British Rock-Blues Mainstay Nigel Ball Announces New Single 'Red Light' from Upcoming Album 'In Transit'

[LONDON, UK — FEBRUARY 2026] – Following three decades of international touring and high-profile collaborations, British rock-blues singer, guitarist, and session bassist Nigel Ball officially announces the release of his new single, "Red Light."

The track serves as the first look into his highly anticipated new album, In Transit, currently in session and slated for release in mid-2026.

"Red Light" captures the grit and momentum of a life spent on the road.

Recorded between a heavy schedule of international dates, the track showcases Ball's unique self-taught guitar style—a blend of blistering lead lines and bass-infused rhythm that draws comparisons to JJ Cale and Mark Knopfler.

"I've spent 30 years 'in transit', but this song comes from a specific incident," says Ball. "I was driving from Dieppe to Marseille in my Transit van when a red light showed up on the dashboard. With no breakdown cover and not enough money for the return ferry to Newhaven, I had no choice but to push on and hope the engine—and my luck—didn't give out. 'Red Light' is the pulse of that anxiety; it's about the gamble we take every time we head out on the road."

Nigel Ball is a name synonymous with professional versatility. Having recently completed a successful 2025 tour across the USA and Mexico, he is set to rejoin the Bex Marshall Trio in April 2026 for a rigorous 6-week American tour.

His pedigree includes work with multi-platinum producer Dito Godwin (Motley Crue/No Doubt) and Rock and Roll Hall of Fame guitarist Greg Douglass, who famously noted: "The kind of musical ESP we conjured is rare indeed."

Key Highlights:

Radio-Friendly: "Red Light" is optimized for airplay with a crisp, blues-rock edge.

Touring Pedigree: Extensive history at iconic venues including Buddy Guy's Legends and the House of Blues, Chicago.

Multifaceted Artist: Former tour manager and bassist for Rolan Bolan (son of Marc Bolan), and collaborator with Will Johns and Ian Siegal.
